“Conflict Minerals” Notice

July 2, 2012

Section 1502 of the Dodd–Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act requires certain United States registered companies selling products containing certain minerals (or metal derivatives) originating in some African countries, commonly referred to as “conflict minerals”, to disclose to the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) the country of origin of those minerals.

Custom Resins is a manufacturer of nylon (polyamide) polymer resins. These minerals are NOT “necessary to the functionality or production” of our products. As such, we do not manufacture our polymer resins products with, or add any of the conflict minerals to our products.

To the best of our knowledge, our raw materials supplies are not manufactured with or contain any conflict minerals. These substances are not expected to be present in our products.
